

 INDICIUM Correspondence Management

INDICIUM Correspondence Management makes it easy to capture and control your incoming paper, email, and faxed correspondence. In a manual environment, these multiple document types can create a nightmare to respond to and track. The inbound paper correspondence alone can come in all shapes and sizes, and who knows where a paper document is at any given moment? We can help you to capture it all and automatically route it to the right people to respond.

Go beyond just tracking your inbound and outbound correspondence - make it work for you!

Paper shuffling ends at the Capture station, where incoming documents are scanned and queued up, along with electronically imported faxes and email correspondence, for staff to review and process. Electronic routing along predefined paths, or ad hoc rerouting, keeps the documents moving without bogging them down in transit.

Outbound response documents are created using MS-Word templates, and can be routed to a review queue prior to sending. The responses are linked to the original incoming correspondence for quick and easy retrieval. Your staff can retrieve, view, and print a full history of all communications relating to a case or correspondent.

Automated workflow and work queue management enable supervisory staff to monitor the process from end to end, adjusting workloads as necessary to avoid bottlenecks. Alerts and notifications warn of any delays in processing, aiding in compliance with time-sensitive restrictions. Security and auditing provide authorized access assurance and complete visibility of all process participants, showing who accessed what and when.
